

4-H Responsible Environmental Stewardship - Quest

About Us

Welcome to the Arkansas 4-H Responsible Environmental Stewardship-Quest (4-H RES-Q) at the C.A. Vines Arkansas 4-H Center. We invite you to join the University of Arkansas facilitators who make learning come alive in the outdoors. Our environmental education program can be customized to meet your needs and is aligned to the Arkansas state frameworks. We offer wildlife, astronomy, forestry, nature awareness, canoeing and fishing classes, just to name a few. Join us for an exciting outdoor learning experience where we learn by doing.

4-H RES-Q is offered as a one-day or two-day/one night experiential environmental education field trip for learners of all ages. The minimum number for a field trip is 20 students. Please call the 4-H RES-Q office for more information.

The field trips are offered year-round at the C.A. Vines Arkansas 4-H Center in West Little Rock.

4-H RES-Q Goals

- To provide state framework correlated curriculum.
- To teach academic classes based on a multidisciplinary curriculum.
- To introduce students to the 4-H Leadership Life Skills.
- To assist students in becoming responsible stewards of Arkansas' natural resources.
- To strengthen educator/student relationships.
- To develop teambuilding skills.

Goals are met through multisensory experiences in natural outdoor settings.
